PROFILE

I have been hairdressing for the passed 12 years, and am due for a change. I started self learning programming through game development mid 2020, and in 2021 I have been doing a full stack web development course through UWA. I have always been interested in programming and am keen to learn everything I can. I am a passionate person and with my experience with hairdressing I have learnt many skills like communication and working in a team but also knowing when to work alone, time management and problem solving. Im not 100% sure where i want to go with my career, but i do know i'm passionate about learning, I love designing and building things and enjoy working with others.
